

THE INSIGHT
RESEARCH
CORPORATION

27 January 2009

To Whom It May Concern:

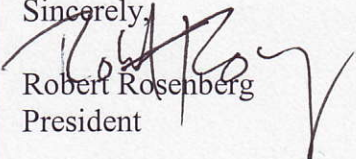

I'd like to recommend Ms. Carrie Atkinson to your attention. Carrie has been a hard-working, loyal and industrious employee of Insight Research for over two and one-half years and it is with the utmost reluctance that—in order to respond to the contraction in our business—we have been forced to end our relationship with her.

She brought to her editorial position here at Insight Research an excellent command of the language and the keen eye for detail required of an editor. During her tenure, Carrie acquired the skills and became an expert in desktop publishing and production using the Microsoft Word and Excel products. Moreover, she has also become familiar with the concepts underlying telecom technology, the Internet and e-commerce.

Again, I think any employer looking for an industrious and motivated employee should give Carrie the most serious consideration.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call or e-mail me at bob@insight-corp.com

Sincerely,

Robert Rosenberg
